Arrays - Used to store multiple values in a single variable. Can contain integers and strings simultaneously without issue. Arrays are zero-based indexes, so the first element in the array is array number 0, second element 1 etc. Arrays can be analyzed or called by various methods for various purposes.